THE EAST AFRICAN
WILD LIFE SOCIETY

30th October 2026

Attn: The Managing Partner

Dear Sir/Madam,

RE: CALL FOR SUBMISSION OF PROFILES AND PROPOSALS FOR AUDIT SERVICES

The East African Wild Life Society (EAWLS) prides herself on being the voice of conservation in Kenya, Tanzania and Uganda for over 60 years. We are one of the oldest membership-based, public benefit conservation organization in East Africa having being established in 1961 through a merger of the Kenyan and Tanzanian Wildlife Societies (both formed in 1956) and wildlife lovers from Uganda. We strive to promote the protection of our natural heritage, threatened species and habitats through our unrivaled experience and conservation expertise.

EAWLS takes a lead role in facilitating and contributing to the formulation and implementation of policies and laws on natural resource management with a view to safeguarding ecosystems and the biodiversity therein for the socio-economic welfare of the people of East Africa. We focus our conservation programmes on four main thematic areas: Wildlife, Forests, Wetlands and Marine life. We have a strong community-based approach where we work closely with grassroot institutions.

We also produce the widely read and loved Swara Magazine since 1956. With it, we aim to create collaborative space for sharing information, enabling useful connections and stimulating better public understanding and debate.

The highest organ of the Society is the Annual General Meeting (AGM) which is composed of all the members.
